Subject: Student Loan Lender Workshop

Due to recently proposed changes to the Federal Student Loan Program, colleges within the North Carolina Community College System are in the process of reviewing and updating their Student Loan Lender List. To assist in this process, the System Office will hold an information workshop to allow lenders the opportunity to present their benefits and default prevention initiatives.

The workshop will be held February 11, 2008, in the Gregory Poole Conference Room at the North Carolina Community College System Office. Lenders have been invited to present their benefits and default prevention plans. Please be advised that this workshop is not an endorsement by the North Carolina Community College System of any presenter. The workshop is designed to provide colleges with a forum to receive information that will assist them in choosing a lender. Also be advised that colleges are not required to use lenders who present during the workshop. Please respond by January 31, 2008, if you plan to attend the workshop.
